California Proposition 65, officially known as the Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986, mandates that businesses provide warnings to Californians about significant exposures to chemicals known to cause cancer, birth defects, or other reproductive harm. These chemicals may be present in products purchased by Californians, in their homes or workplaces, or released into the environment. By ensuring this information is available, Proposition 65 empowers Californians to make informed decisions regarding their exposure to these chemicals.

Additionally, Proposition 65 prohibits California businesses from knowingly discharging significant amounts of listed chemicals into sources of drinking water. The state of California is required to publish and update annually a list of chemicals known to cause cancer, birth defects, or other reproductive harm. Since its inception in 1987, this list has expanded to include approximately 900 chemicals. <https://oehha.ca.gov/proposition-65/proposition-65-list>

To identify the presence of these chemicals in our components and raw materials, EDAC relies on material declarations provided by suppliers. Full material declarations can be requested at support@edac.net.

All EDAC components are not intended for direct consumption and do not expose or release any Proposition 65-listed chemicals that pose a significant risk of cancer. Therefore, EDAC components are compliant with Proposition 65 requirements. Customers are advised to evaluate how and where EDAC components will be used to determine their own responsibilities under Proposition 65.
