The Stockholm Convention on Persistent Organic Pollutants (POPs) is an international treaty adopted on 22 May 2001 and entered into force on 17 May 2004. Its primary objective is to protect human health and the environment from persistent organic pollutants, which are chemicals that persist in the environment, accumulate in the fatty tissues of living organisms, and have harmful effects on health and ecosystems.

EDAC does not intentionally add any POP chemicals to its products during the manufacturing process, nor does it knowingly resell any products containing POP chemicals, in compliance with Regulation (EU) 2019/1021. Customers are encouraged to review their own use of EDAC products to ensure compliance with relevant regulations regarding POPs.
